

POLICE AIR FORCE MODEL FOR NATION

Unit Here Held Example for Establishing of Other Naval Reserve Branches.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau.
Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—The aviation reserve of the New York city police should be made a model by the navy in establishing other reserve organizations throughout the country, according to an official statement by the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Navy Department to-day.

A thorough inspection of the New York unit this week showed that, as to personnel, equipment and training, it possesses all the essentials of an up-to-date, efficient service force.

Its members are enrolled in the Naval Reserve Force and are former naval aviators. The inspection of the organization by Lieut. F. W. Neilson, U. S. N., of the Bureau of Aeronautics, in charge of the reserve training activities in naval aviation, resulted in unstinted praise of the manner in which the unit is maintained. High commendation was given to the exceptional esprit de corps and efficiency of the personnel.

In the report of the inspection, submitted to the Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, it is recommended that the bureau co-operate to the fullest extent in the development of the organization and plans have been formulated to give twenty aviators in the unit training each year in service type planes with the active naval aviation squadron operating with the fleet.

The aviation reserve is described as an organization that has been running on an admirable basis since it was established three years ago. It has never flooded the Navy Department with requests and it has done good work and the exact type of work it is necessary that reserve aviation organizations accomplish, according to Lieut. Neilson.

During the past year the city of New York has given $3,000 to the unit and for the coming year $5,000 has been set aside. There are now two N-9 type of training planes at the station at Fort Hamilton. The planes were received from the Navy in the spring and their condition is such as might serve for a season in plane maintenance to the aviation units of the regular establishment, the report declared.

500 CAMP DIX STUDENTS SHOW WELL IN REVIEW

Sore Muscles From Training
Are Forgotten in Parade.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
CAMP DIX, N. J., Aug. 5.—Battle scarred, with briar scratches, stiffened muscles and blistered feet from campaigning over the Camp Dix terrain, students in the citizens' military training camp forgot their hardships and proudly marched in their first review to-day. Major Robert L. Spragins, appointed by Brig.-Gen. Weigel as commandant of the training camp, reviewed the marchers. Many friends of the young student officers witnessed the review and inspection.

Health and morale of the training camp have brought words of highest praise from the commanding officers. Of more than 500 applicants only eleven were rejected for physical disabilities in the tests to which all candidates were subjected by surgeons.

TROLLEY CAR AFIRE IN STREET

A short circuit of the underground wire of the second avenue surface line at Second avenue and Tenth street yesterday afternoon enveloped in smoke a passing one-man car, in charge of Michael O'Rourke, and set the car afire, causing passengers to leave hurriedly. Fire apparatus was summoned and the blaze was quickly extinguished with sand. Traffic in Second avenue was delayed for about ten minutes.

AFTER a careful survey of the various August Furniture Sales about town these facts stand out—

The greatest values in New York are to be had in August as in all other months, from a dependable furniture specialist like Flint & Horner.

That the choicest furniture is gathered in by the specialists. Flint & Horner require eight full floors to display the furniture that deserves it.

And the reason for this is simple. The choice furniture and the best values come to Flint & Horner because the heads of this firm are life-long furniture men—and their undivided attention is given to the one problem of providing the best values in good furniture.

And because of this specialization on one object, you can get the best values in New York in the August Sale of Flint's Fine Furniture.

THE STOCK OF GOOD FURNITURE on the eight floors of our own building is so great that it prevents us from giving more than a hint of what we have in the August Sale. Every single item has been reduced. Nothing is held back—nothing is reserved. But these few items will give you the range of the prices; nothing but the furniture itself can give you an idea of its quality.

WE HAVE BEEN in the furniture business for more than 82 years, and out of that experience, a word or two of advice may not be amiss.

The best way to make sure of good furniture is to have a competent furniture salesman serve you. For he, too, is a specialist—a specialist in satisfaction.

Just as the undivided attention of the heads of this company results in giving the greatest values, so the specialized help of a trained furniture salesman makes it easier for you to select the furniture which will permanently fill your needs.

Here at Flint & Horner's, we have an extraordinary staff. They are not "fill-in" salesmen for the August Sale. They can be of great assistance to you. If possible, come in the morning for, by arriving at a time before noon, you can insure for yourself the maximum of service and help.

Great as the reductions are, the important point to remember is that their prices were reasonable before the sale. And another point of mighty weight is that back of each and every piece you have the guarantee of a house that has been specialists in good furniture since 1840.
